

PREDICTED ENEMY TO SOON WAVE WHITE FLAG

TURKEY IS OUT OF WORLD WAR; ACCEPTS TERMS

British Representatives Conclude Armistice With Ottoman Empire at Saloniki.

SURRENDER COMPLETE

Terms Said to Include Free Passage of Dardanelles to Allies—Impossible for Sultan to Resume Hostilities.

London, Nov. 1.—Turkey, tired of waiting for Germany to fulfill promises of military and financial support, threatened with defeat at the hands of the Allies, has thrown up the sponge and retired from the war as an ally of the Central powers.

Armistice terms, including the opening of the Dardanelles to the Allied fleets, were signed at Salonika by representatives of the British and Turkish nations.

The truce went into effect immediately and the Dardanelles were reported to have been opened.

Official Announcement Made.

Official announcement of the unconditional surrender of the Ottoman empire was made in the House of Commons by Sir George Cave, home secretary.

Sir George said that occupation of the Turkish forts on the Bosphorus and in the Dardanelles, and repatriation of Allied war prisoners were two of the terms of the truce.

One of the ironies of the surrender was the taking of the offer of Turkish capitulation to the British naval authorities by General Townshend, the British commander captured at Kut-el-Amara.

He was released from captivity several days ago to carry the offer to Vice Admiral Calthorpe, in command of the Allied forces in the Aegean sea.

Armistice Formally Signed.

The Turkish peace envoys arrived at Mudros early this week and the armistice was signed Thursday night by Vice Admiral Calthorpe.

It is believed, though not officially reported, that ships of the Allied fleet have already entered the Dardanelles.

London, Nov. 1.—British representatives have concluded an armistice with Turkey at Saloniki, according to authoritative information received here.

The terms are said to include free passage of the Dardanelles and to be such that it will be impossible for Turkey to resume hostilities.

Turkey is thus definitely out of the war.

The proposals from Turkey are regarded as tantamount to unconditional surrender.

The actual terms of Turkey's peace proposals have not yet reached London.

To Withdraw from Italy.

Vienna, Nov. 1.—Austrian troops fighting on Italian soil will be withdrawn, according to an official statement issued by the war office. The statement reads: "Taking into account the resolve so often expressed to bring about a conclusion of an armistice and peace, putting an end to the struggle of nations, our troops fighting on Italian soil will evacuate occupied regions."

The proposals from Turkey are regarded as tantamount to unconditional surrender.

The actual terms of Turkey's peace proposals have not yet reached London.

GENERAL MARCH IS PLEASED

Surrender of Turkey Referred to as "Big Doings."

Washington, Nov. 1.—"Big doings," was the enthusiastic exclamation of Chief of Staff March when informed of the capitulation of Turkey and the reported appeal for an armistice on the field of battle of Austria-Hungary.

And War department officials indicated they expected more "big doings" before long.

AMERICA IS NOT INVOLVED

Merely Severed Diplomatic Relations With Turkey.

AUSTRIAN REPUBLIC IS LIKELY--- KAISER'S ABDICATION PROBABLE

BLACK SEA IS OPEN

German Fleet There in Danger of Destruction.

Allied Warships Now Can Pass Through Dardanelles to Attack the Enemy.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Announcement from London that an armistice with Turkey, which permits passage of Allied warships through the Dardanelles, already is in operation, led naval officers here to believe that an Allied fleet, if it has not already started, soon will pass through to the Black sea to attack the German forces there.

These forces include ships of the Russian Black sea fleet taken over by the Germans after the collapse of the provisional government in Russia.

Official British reports revealed by Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the admiralty, during his recent visit here, show that the Germans obtained one superdreadnaught, several battleships of the pre-dreadnaught type, and a score of fast destroyers.

The German battle cruiser Goeben also is in the Black sea. This vessel was in the Mediterranean when the war began and escaped to the Bosphorus, where it was reported to have been "sold" to Turkey before that country entered the war. The cruiser was badly damaged several times, but recent reports said it had been repaired again, taken over by the Germans, and withdrawn to the Black sea.

Surrender of Commanders Will be in Armistice Terms

(By United Press)

Paris, Nov. 1.—Action equivalent to the surrender of German and Austrian military commanders it is believed certain today will be included in the armistice terms. The surrender of Turkey to the British indicates the allies will certainly force the enemy literally to wave the white flag in France and Italy. The members of the inter-allied council believe the Hapsburg dynasty is ended and that the Austrian republic will likely be formed. The Kaiser's abdication also is considered inevitable, the date only being uncertain. Confidential advices to the conference suggested the German internal situation is momentarily likely to force his abdication.

(By United Press)

ALLIED ARMIES WIN BIG VICTORY

Defeat Austrians From Mountain Region to the Plains of Venetia.

PLEADING FOR PEACE

Vienna, Realizing That Her Military Forces Are Beaten and With Chaos Reigning in Dual Monarchy, Asks for Truce.

London, Nov. 1.—With Turkey out of the war, Germany's remaining ally, Austria-Hungary, badly defeated on the field of battle, her battline cut in two and with chaos reigning inside her border, is pleading for a truce.

Thus far her impunities have received no better answer than the redoubling of the efforts of the Allies to crush her warriors.

The capitulation of Turkey is believed to have been an unconditional one; the victories of the Allied forces over the Austro-Hungarians threaten to send what remains of the enemy armies reeling back to their border line shattered and completely vanquished.

More than 50,000 prisoners have been taken by the Italian, British, French, American and Czech-Slovak forces, and everywhere, from the mountain region to the plains of Venetia, the enemy is being sorely tried.

In the mountains, where stiff resistance had been offered to keep the foe from entering the back door of Austria, the enemy's front is cracking under the violence of the attacks and important strategic positions are being lost.

Wedge Driven Into Line.—To the east of the Piave the Allies have driven in a sharp wedge to the northeast of Belluno, some 20 miles from their original point of departure, and severed connection between the armies in the north and those on the Venetian plains.

Over the plains leading to the Austrian frontier at the Isonzo river the invaders everywhere are in full flight, with the Allied troops pressing them hard. Here the debacle seems to be complete.

The enemy in his flight is leaving behind large numbers of guns and great quantities of war stores as he endeavors to reach the passages over the Tagliamento river.

It seems not improbable that on the plains and in the region east and west of Belluno large numbers of the enemy are destined to be captured.

Brilliant Aerial Work.

On the western battle front there is still little fighting of a violent character, but the intensive operations of the airmen seems to presage an early return of battle of major importance.

In Belgium both the British and Belgian troops have made slight gains, while the French on the southern part of the line in France have advanced their line and taken prisoners.

Aside from reciprocal artillery duels and continued aerial raids by the Americans and Germans, the American sectors east and west of the Meuse have been comparatively quiet.

LOSES ITS GRIP IN PACIFIC

New York, Nov. 1.—Elimination of German control over the Hawaiian sugar industry by the purchase by Americans of the powerful Hackfeld company was announced by A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian.

The purchase of the German concern was arranged by Mr. Palmer.

As a result of this transfer, the center of pro-German propaganda in the Pacific has been destroyed and the German hold on the principal industry of Hawaii permanently broken.

ANARCHY GROWS IN HUNGARY

THE RED CROSS COOPERATING

When Cartons are Filled They Must Not Weigh to Exceed Three Lbs., Must Be Sent Soon

There should be a Christmas parcel for every soldier serving overseas. The cartons are here now.

Every man overseas will be given a label on which will be space to fill in his name, regiment and company. After filling this out he will mail it home to some member of his family who will have charge of his particular package.

Upon presenting this label to the local chapter of the Red Cross they will be given a carton which may be filled but not sealed and must be returned to the Red Cross committee at the city hall, Brainerd, for mailing.

The cartons are here ready for delivery. When filled they must not weigh to exceed three pounds and will be inspected before mailing. The postage on these packages will be twenty-six cents each to be paid by the sender.

The committee in charge will be at the municipal court room, city hall, Brainerd, tomorrow afternoon and thereafter each day (except Sunday) up to and including Nov. 14th, from 10 to 12 forenoons and from 2 to 5 afternoons.

It is suggested that relatives re-

Here is a cooling drink for fever patients: Put a little sage, two sprigs of oregano and a little sorrel into a stone jug, having first washed and dried it. Peel thin a small lemon, slice it up and put a small piece of the peel in; then pour in three pints of boiling water. Sweeten and cover it closely.

Peace-Theorin

Miss Esther Theorin, daughter of Gustave C. Theorin of Deerwood, was married at high noon Friday to Geo. E. Pease of Ironton, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Eloy G. Carlson at the home of the bride's brother and wife, Sheriff and Mrs. Claus A. Theorin.

The bride was radiantly lovely in a broadcloth traveling suit. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for a short trip to Minneapolis. They will be at home to their friends November 20 at the Spina hotel, Ironton, where they have a suite of rooms.

The bride gained a large acquaintance in Brainerd, having been a deputy clerk of the district court clerk's office. Later she was a stenographer at the First State bank of Ironton. The bridegroom is chief clerk of the Merritt and Clark mines on the Cuyuna iron range.

The Dispatch joins their many friends in extending best wishes for their continued happiness and prosperity.

The young newlyweds will make their home near Pequot. A host of friends wish them all happiness through life.

REPORT STATES NO GRAFT EXISTS

Findings of Aircraft Investigation Are Laid Before the President.

MUCH MONEY WASTED

Defective Organization and Serious Lack of Competent Direction Are Given as Main Reasons for Delay and Waste.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The aircraft investigation report, conducted in the last five months by Charles E. Hughes and Attorney General Gregory, was placed before President Wilson by the Attorney General and at once made public.

"Delays and wastes of the production program," the report declares, "were due chiefly to the defective organization of the work of aircraft production and the serious lack of competent direction of that work by the responsible officers of the signal corps. Civilian Personnel Exonerated."

No fault is found with the management of aircraft affairs since the reorganization of last May, which placed John D. Ryan in charge. The civilian personnel of the aircraft production board is exonerated of any wrong doing.

Attorney General Gregory, in a letter transmitting the report to President Wilson, says he is in "substantial accord" with the findings by Mr. Hughes.

The report finds no "graft" in the generally accepted sense, but makes recommendations for proceedings against army officers held guilty of dealing with corporations in which they were interested.

About $24,000,000 Wasted.

The chief waste from the original appropriation of $691,851,866, the report says, was in the abandonment of two types of airplanes—one of them the Bristol—and a failure to salvage, aggregating about $24,000,000.

The figures show that last May, of that great appropriation, $134,000,000 actually had been disbursed, and that up to Oct. 1 the expenditure had reached about $140,000,000 for all aviation purposes. This did not include expenditures of the sales department, which buys material and resells it to manufacturers and advances for building plants. Contracts let, however, committed about $470,000,000 of the fund.

The figures are given in answer to the general charge that the sum had all been expended with practically no results.

The attorney general concludes in his letter of transmittal that "no such profits have been allowed as to justify a charge of bad faith."

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

PVT. RAY E. DAVIS

Writes His Mother, Mrs. M. Purcell, From France—Is in Engineers Corps of Army

In a letter to his mother, Mrs. M. Purcell of Fort Ripley, Private Ray E. Davis, Co. A., 7th Reg. U. S. Engineers, A. E. F., tells of experiences in France.

Received a bunch of mail from home today and was sure glad to get it. Received a letter from Rose and some pictures. We are always glad to get pictures and letters from home. We have been in the trenches for weeks and it rains nearly every night. It is very muddy all the time. We have only seen a Y. M. C. A. hut a couple of times since we have been over here. We got some cookies once when we first came. I haven't had any cake or sweet stuff since I left the U. S.

I was over to C. Co. tonight to see Buckle Clark. You can see his mother he is fine. I support you have read the good news. They have the Germans on the run, if they can only keep them going. I have been in the army a year now. Time surely goes fast. We received our first service stripes for six months' service. They are a V gold braid on the sleeve. I had a letter from Art Root. He is in the service of supplies. Don't be surprised if you find some cookies in this letter for I am pretty sure I have some.

I got a bunch of papers from Estelle and thank her for them and tell her I will write as soon as possible. I would like to run across a Y. M. C. A. hut about now. The Red Cross gives us smoking tobacco once a week. The boys sure like their smoke and when we are at the front it seems to make a fellow feel better to have something to smoke.

I would rather have a box of home-made candy than a ten dollar bill. I think they will let you folks send us a package about next month. I hope so any way.

I haven't written a letter for two weeks. I know you will be worrying about me, but I will write as often as I can. I picked up a German bayonet this morning. I wish I could send it home for a souvenir, but no chance. I weigh 165 pounds and am some taller than when I was home last. Well, it is about dinner time and I will have to clean my rifle and bayonet. We were on a long hike, a hundred miles all together and encountered all kinds of bad weather. It was the longest hike I ever took.

Ex-Presidents Reply to Wilson's Partisan Appeals

(By United Press)

New York, Nov. 1.—In view of President Wilson's recent public demand for the election of a democratic congress, ex-Presidents Roosevelt and Taft today made public the following joint statement through the Republican National committee:

"We approach this subject as Americans and only as Americans. When this war broke out we would have welcomed action by the president which would have eliminated all questions of party politics. It would have enabled us all to stand behind him to the end, without regard to anything except national considerations. Instead of this, partisan lines have been strictly drawn from the first, and now the president announces that only democrats can be entrusted with future power and only those democrats who do his will. Because of this reflection on other patriotic Americans we appeal for fair play.

"The next congress will serve from March 4, 1919 to March 4, 1921. In that period,

"1. The war must be fought to unconditional surrender unless this is achieved before.

"2. The terms of world peace must be settled.

"3. The democratic administration after expending billions of treasure and exercising more absolute power than any administration in our history must give an account of its stewardship.

"4. The change from war conditions to peace must be brought about with the least disturbance and the work of reconstruction must be broadly begun.

"A republican congress would be much better qualified than one controlled by democrats to aid the country in adopting the measures needed for these four great tasks.

"1. Even as a minority party the republicans made the winning of the war possible by passing the original draft bill. Without this we could not have trained and landed the two millions of men now in France. As a minority party the republicans forced upon a reluctant president and secretary of war, after an injurious delay of four months, three amended acts, without which we could not put two more millions at the front next July. The speaker, the leader and the chairman of the military committee of the democratic house opposed the original draft with all the vigor possible. It was saved and so our country's cause was saved by the republican minority.

"2. The new senate must approve, by two-thirds vote, the terms of peace. Those terms should be settled not by one man only. It is one man control we are fighting in this war to suppress. If the peace treaty is to be useful in the future, it must be approved by the great body of the American people. The president has indicated a willingness to make a peace by negotiation. He has not demanded, as he might have done in three lines, that which the American people demand, an unconditional surrender. His exchange of notes with Germany has caused a deep concern among our people lest he may be his preying with her, concede her a peace around a council table instead of a sentence from a court. The 14 points which the president and Germany assume that they have already agreed upon are so general and vague that such a peace would be no treaty at all, but only a protocol to an intermediate discussion. The president is without final power to bind the United States to those 14 points, although his language does not suggest it. Still less has he power to bind our noble allies. We do not know that these points include all that our allies may justly demand or do not concede something they may justly withhold. For what they have done for us, we owe our allies the highest good faith.

"It is of capital importance that we should now elect a senate which should be independent enough to interpret and enforce the will of the American people in the matter of this world peace and not merely submit to the uncontrolled will of Mr. Wilson.

"Nor can the attitude of the house of representatives be ignored in this peace. Every affirmative obligation binding the United States in that treaty must be performed by the house as part of the congress. The present democratic majority in the house has been subservient to the will of the president of every respect except when critical issues on the conduct of the war have been involved. The president has not hesitated publicly to discipline those of his party who have disagreed with him and the lesson has had its effect. A new democratic congress, with its old leaders thus chastened, will offer no opposition to his will. They will not be consulted in the future more than in the past. In a democratic congress the American people will not have the service of an independent, courageous, co-ordinate branch of the government to moderate his uncontrolled will. It is not safe to entrust to one man such unlimited power. It is not in accord with the traditions of the republic.

"3. The republicans voted without objection billions to be expended by this administration. Six hundred and forty millions for aviation were given to the executive to build airplanes without a single limitation as to the manner or method of its expenditure. A senate committee has deplored the waste and failure in the use of that money. The debts which have been created by this war the people will be paying to the third and fourth generation. They have a right to know how these enormous sums have been expended. Only a republican congress will have the courage to exact a detailed and accurate story of that stewardship.

"4. The work of reconstruction must not be done by one man or finally formulated according to his academic theories and ideals. The president was not elected when such issues were before the people. His mandate of power was not given in the light of the momentous questions which will soon force themselves for solution. He was elected as a peace president and because he had kept us out of war. The American people should therefore place in the branch of the government charged constitutionally with adopting policies of reconstructing a congress which will not register the will of one man, but fresh from the people will enact the will of the people.

"We earnestly deprecate extending the unified uncontrolled leadership of a commander in chief to the making of a permanent treaty of peace or to the framing of those measures of reconstruction which must seriously affect the happiness and prosperity of the American people for a century. We urge all Americans, who are Americans first, to vote for a republican congress.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
(Signed) WILLIAM H. TAFT."

P. J. LONG

Mr. Long is one of the early residents of Ironton, having come here in 1910, at which time there wasn't much of any thing there. His home, before coming here was at Cloquet, where his brother is now mayor.

Mr. Long early became interested in real estate, having full faith in the Cuyuna Range, and in addition to considerable village property owns interests in valuable farming lands. While taking an interest in all civic affairs he never became active in politics until he was nominated for mayor of Ironton, to which office he was elected and re-elected without opposition. He has never been, in any sense of the word, a politician. The universal confidence in his integrity and ability made him the candidate of the people for the mayoralty, and the entire satisfaction with which he filled the office made him the candidate to succeed himself.

He has now been called to a wider field and has, at the urgent solicitation of his friends become a candidate for the legislature for Crow Wing county. If the people of the county know him as the people of Ironton do he would be assured of election by a great majority.—Ironton News.

INFLUENZA BAN TO CONTINUE A WEEK

Meeting of Physicians, Board of Health and School Board Held on Thursday Evening

SOME CASES SERIOUS IN CITY

Contagion Carried to Brainerd by People From Infected Districts. Families are Sufferers

The influenza ban has not been lifted.

Following a meeting of physicians of the city, board of health and school board, the ban was continued for another week. There is a considerable number of cases of influenza in the city. Contagion has been carried to families from outside communities and in many cases a relative was the innocent means of spreading the disease, as witness the case of a man from Ironton, employed there, who spent some time with his family and now wife and children have been stricken.

No District Court Next Week
There will be no district court held next week and notices have been sent the grand jury and petit jury not to report until further notice.

Judge W. S. McClenahan announced this morning that district court had been adjourned to November 19, and jurors had been excused until that time.

No Public Gatherings
The ban against public gatherings of all kinds continues. There will be no school, no theatres, no moving pictures, no roller rink, no dances, etc.

At Little Falls
At Little Falls all stores and saloons, except drug stores and meat markets, close at 7 o'clock. People are asked not to congregate in stores and on the streets. Bowling alleys and pool and billiard rooms are not allowed to have more than 25 in their places. Dr. N. Dumont, health officer, said 370 cases were reported to him.

At St. Cloud
The number of deaths resulting from influenza were considerably increased at St. Cloud on Thursday. Most of the cases were contracted several days ago and had developed into pneumonia. Ten deaths reported include adults and small children. The need of additional help to relieve those who have been working at the St. Cloud Institute for the past week is still one of the outstanding features of the influenza situation.

REV. WM. LLOYD CRIST ACCEPTS FLORIDA CALL

Popular Pastor of the Peoples Congregational Church Feted and Dined Before Leaving

REGRET TO SEE HIM GO AWAY

Young Men of Sunday School Classes Planned a Royal Farewell, But Influenza Ban Forbade It

Rev. William Lloyd Crist, the popular pastor of the Peoples Congregational church, left for his new appointment in Florida this Friday.

For the past few days he has been feted and dined. Those giving dinners in his honor were Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Templeton, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Larson, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hennings, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Benest and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crist.

Eleven young ladies from the high school gave a picnic luncheon on Ahren's hill one afternoon, and the members and friends of the Peoples church had planned on a big reception for him, but on account of the ban being placed upon all public meetings during the "flu" epidemic, had to recall it.

The young men of his Sunday school class had also planned for a royal send-off on Thursday, but could not have it.

Rev. Crist has been with the Peoples church for the past two years, and is leaving because Minnesota's severe winters do not agree with him. His work here has been noted, not only by local people, but the state officers as well, and all are sorry to have him go. He has devoted much of his time to the young people, especially the young men, and as a result he has seen them responding in great numbers. He has been in touch with many of the young men, and has been their friend and advisor through the most critical period of their lives, and has left upon them, we have no doubt, an impression for constant good and aspiration.

He goes from here to the eastern coast of Florida, 194 miles south of Jacksonville, in the heart of the citrus fruit belt, two miles from the Atlantic ocean, where the temperature in winter ranges from 70 degrees to 85 degrees, and in summer from 75 degrees to 95 degrees.

The Peoples church has procured a pastor, whom they believe will fit into the place made vacant by Mr. Crist. In the person of Rev. Charles N. Sennett, of Pontanelle, Iowa, who comes highly recommended. He has had considerable experience with young people, along the line of Boy Scout work, etc. He begins his work with the church next Sunday.

As a little token of the love and esteem for Mr. Crist, the members and friends of the church presented him with a purse of about thirty-five dollars, and his "boys", as he always called the young men in his Sunday school class, gave him fifty dollars.

He has promised the Dispatch, when he once gets settled in his new home, to give a description of the place to which he has gone. The Dispatch joins in wishing him unbounded success in his new pastorate.

FUNERALS IN FLU BAN

Must be Private, Applies to Deaths Occurring Locally From Any Cause or Bodies Brought in Regulation 229, passed by the State Board of Health at its meeting October 21, prohibits public gatherings. In accordance with this regulation, from this date (October 26) forward until further notice all funerals are considered public gatherings and must be private. This applies to deaths occurring locally, from any cause, or bodies brought into the state for burial.

The funeral shall be held from the residence unless this is impossible owing to the fact that deceased lived in a hotel or boarding house or has no home or there is sickness in the house. In such event funerals may be held from the undertaker's chapel or the chapel at the cemetery.

Only the immediate relatives of the deceased may attend the funeral; also a licensed embalmer and his necessary assistants, and a minister of religion.

Influenza and pneumonia have been added to the list of communicable diseases by the State Board at its meeting October 8. There are also regulations where communicable diseases exist, of burial in 24 hours, closed caskets, etc.

The object of this order is to prevent the unnecessary assemblage of people, and is construed to apply to prohibiting funerals from churches and prohibiting public funerals in cemeteries as well, until further notice.

HOME GUARDS DO GOOD RESCUE WORK

Save From Destruction Expensive Road Built Through Peat Bog Section by Ditches

ROAD WAS DIFFICULT TO BUILD

Louis Knudsen, Village Engineer of Ironton, Formerly of Brainerd, on Committee (Ironton News)

Leading from Aitkin to Hill City is a road built at considerable expense across a bog. On account of the Mississippi river backing up into that territory the road has to be built high enough to be above the highest expected overflow, which makes it about six or seven feet above the original level of the land.

The substructure of the road is material taken from the bog. When dry it burns like peat. The road is about seven miles long and cost about seven thousand dollars a mile. It is surfaced with material brought by rail from Carlton and hauled out to the road on wagons, and cost about five thousand dollars a mile.

Fire came to the road through the bog, which under such conditions would burn slowly but surely and is extremely difficult to extinguish. A committee was formed at Aitkin to find a way to put out the fire before the road was destroyed. The members of the committee were Marcus Nelson of Tamarack, Charles O'Hara, highway engineer of Aitkin county, Mr. Foley, ditch contractor of Aitkin, B. Hassman, mayor and banker of Aitkin, and Louis Knudsen, village engineer of Ironton.

This committee decided that the only practicable way to handle the fire was to fill the ditches beside the road with water, which was to be taken from the river. Mr. Foley lent them a pump that was rated to lift a thousand gallons a minute. It was hauled from Tamarack, a flume a quarter of a mile long was built and water was put into the ditch in 30 hours, under the direction of Mr. Knudsen. Dams were built across the ditch and as a section filled a bucket brigade put water onto the fire.

When the fire was well under control, the Home Guards turned the work over to the commissioners of Aitkin county, who immediately or-organized a force of local men and went to work.

When the call for help came Ironton sent about thirty-five Home Guards and ten volunteers, and Crosby about the same number, and got them to the scene of the fire in an hour and a half. The natives stood around and looked at them.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation. The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

CAPITAL STILL IS FULL OF OFFICERS

EFFORTS OF CONGRESS TO GET THEM INTO THE FIELD HAVE BEEN QUITE FUTILE.

SWIVEL-CHAIR DRIVE FAILS

Vast Areas in Washington Covered With Public Buildings Needed for War Work—One Inconsistency of Metropolitan Newspapers.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington.—There are more army officers in Washington now than ever before, and this notwithstanding the efforts of congress to get these officers into the field. Several months ago a tremendous "drive" was made in both the senate and house to remove from Washington the thousands of officers who were doing clerical duty and yet walking about the streets in uniforms, although there was a constant demand for still more officers and more commissions were being issued. Thus has been frustrated another attempt of congress to interfere with the conduct of the war. Every time either house of congress has tried to have a "say-so" as to what shall be done with officers and men it has met with signal reverse. Congress cannot command, although it has "resolved" to a considerable extent upon the "swivel-chair" officers who have been so numerous in the national capital.

Many changes has the war made in Washington, but in no particular has it been so great as in the matter of public buildings. For more than a quarter of a century there has been great effort to secure the erection of a sufficient number of public buildings in Washington to accommodate the nation's business, but without avail. The annual rental bill previous to the war was something like $900,000; just how much it is now no one can say. At the same time there have been immense areas covered with public buildings of all sorts to house the war work and war workers, and it only requires a request on the part of some department for an appropriation for a public building in order to get it. Many of the structures are only temporary.

Metropolitan newspapers may be as clever as they make out, but there are times when it doesn't seem possible. A member of congress was commenting on the news they have been running since the German peace whine. "There will be an editorial," he said, "solemnly warning the people that Germany is not whipped yet by any means, and then there will be a half dozen long articles from neutral European capitals full of stories about uprisings in Germany and rumors that the kaiser has abdicated." Probably there have been demonstrations in Berlin by the poor people. If so, it is 100 to 1 that the kaiser's agents were at the bottom of them. There is just the impression Germany's rulers want the allies to get—that the people are not behind kaiserdom—but it is a safe bet that none of the "popular demonstrations" we hear so much about have for one minute been beyond control of the present imperial German government.

One member of congress who has been able to do more than merely discuss the influenza epidemic is Congressman Lazaro of Louisiana. He was a practicing and well-known physician when elected to congress, and in the shortage of medical help that has prevailed Congressman Lazaro has become Doctor Lazaro, treating a number of people who were ill of influenza and had not been able to secure medical attention for love or money. With the death of Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire the Louisiana congressman and Congressman Foster of Illinois were left as the last representatives of the medical profession in congress.

The movement to stop the use of the German language in America, particularly in the schools, has met with nearly universal approval. Feeling on this subject runs high, as it does upon every question touching "hyphenated Americanism." A citizen's league of a southern town recently circulated a pamphlet in Washington protesting against the attitude of a government official who wanted the German language taught in our schools. "We cannot say," read the protest, "whether he is one who at this time looks with too much charity upon the arch enemy of humanity, whether he is a victim of distorted and morbid sympathies, or is simply a highly educated fool."

"Jolliest War Work."

A girl who is a timber measurer in England writes that she has hit on the finest and jolliest war work that is going. "Fifty of us—some trained, some in training—live in huts in Buckinghamshire. Our camp is on the edge of the wood where the trees grow that we are measuring. You could not find anywhere happier, healthier, or busier girls. I have always loved trees, and I get to love them more every day, and to know them better—their greatness, their beauty, and their loyal, untiring service to mankind."—Montreal Herald.

AIR RAIDS CONTINUED

British Aviators Do Effective Work on German Cities.

Confine Attacks to Factories, Railway Centers and Military Objectives, Avoiding Hospitals.

London, Nov. 1.—German manufacturing centers are being constantly raided by British air forces and one result is weakening of the morale of the German civilian population to such an extent that numerous indignation meetings have been held and requests for stronger air defenses forwarded to the German government.

Unlike the German airmen, who drop their bombs promiscuously on open towns, Red Cross hospitals and the like, the British flyers have been concentrating their efforts on German munition establishments, aerodromes, railway communications and carefully selected military objectives. The two most frequently raided objectives of late are the Sablon railway station at Metz and the station and freight yards at Thionville.

These places were raided 69 times in 90 days and the air force have concentrated their efforts at these two important junctions, which are practically the center of the strategic railroads of Lorraine and the whole of the lower Rhine basin.

Interruption to traffic at these points disorganizes the transport of a great battle zone, and more particularly the passage of munitions for troops holding the line against the French armies.

The Badische poison gas works at Mannheim have been badly knocked about by the hundreds of bombs dropped by British airmen, and our young pilots are only too glad to have the opportunity of destroying these immense chemical works, where the mustard and other devilish gases used by the Germans are manufactured.

Denies Deserting Germany.

Berne, Nov. 1.—Austria-Hungary was not unfaithful to her agreements with Germany when she sent the recent notes to the United States, Professor Lammasch, the new Austrian premier, declared to the party leaders in Vienna, according to the official Vienna correspondence bureau. He said that all nations desire to bring an end to the war by the most honorable means possible. The German government, he explained, had been informed 25 hours beforehand of the measures.

The Twins

By RALPH HAMILTON

Richard Ball was the happiest man in the world. Always chubby, rotund, beaming with health and vitality, his laugh was the cheeriest; but now there had come a new element into his life, a double element, in fact, which made him proud, autocratic, almost unbearable in his effervescent, irrepressible joy. This had happened: One evening there was a ring at the door-bell. Richard had a man servant and a housekeeper. The former, with bulging eyes and bated breath, came plunging into the cozy, peaceful library, holding a basket.

"Babies—two babies!" he gasped, and in his tremulous timidity let the basket fall with a mild thump.

"You brute!" shrieked portly, motherly Mrs. Doane, as two piping voices gave forth a mutual protest against such rough treatment. Then her arms dived down amid the fluffiness of blanket and counterpane to evolve two little cherubs—eyes wide open, faces plump and shining.

"Twins!" she fluttered—"the darlings! Oh, sir! they look straight from heaven!"

"Shall I notify the police?" questioned the man servant, but Richard was hopping about in a state of the most frantic excitement, arms swinging, face radiant, overwhelmed with so many vivid emotions that he did not take time to analyze any of them. "Police!" he shouted, "what for? They're mine, aren't they? Sent here, left here, given to me. Mrs. Doane, admirable woman that you are, we adopt those little mites. Get busy and give them a royal welcome."

It was days before the exultation over the incident subsided. Mrs. Doane insisted that some poor mother, unable to care for her precious ones, had simply selected the kindest-hearted man she could hear of to become their protector. They seemed sublimely content to crawl, and chirp, and coo, and eat, and sleep and smile contentedly. At the office Richard straitened about with a new air of importance and dignity. He came home an hour earlier every afternoon. He began to look younger, not younger, feel younger, and acquired a vocabulary of baby language that would rival that of the fondest mother.

He named the two little girls Mary and Sarah, after his dead mother and a sister. He lavished upon them all that luxury could suggest. Many a widow and spinster began to evince prodigious interest in the little ones of his adoption, but Richard was absorbed in them solely, and the maneuvering tactics of these husband-hunters went for naught. Richard accredited himself the most favored being in the universe. He counted his environment ideal. He planned ahead for those "daughters" twenty years. He even made a will in their favor.

One evening, at dusk, as Richard ran up the steps of his home, he paused, to observe a feminine form peering in at one of the front windows. The intruder was veiled.

"Marsh," he said, "there is a suspiciously acting woman I have seen twice near the house. Child-stealer? Abductor? who knows! Get out quietly, follow her and let me know what you learn."

Richard acted like a wild man when Marsh handed in his report two hours later. He had followed the woman to a respectable boarding house. She was forewoman in a big department store. He had a glimpse into her room. Over her mantel was a photograph of two little babies.

"Yours—ours," sentimentally advised Marsh.

"The mother!" gasped Richard—"it's come! My dream of life is to be cruelly annihilated." And two evenings later Mrs. Doane informed him that a lady wished to see him. His heart sank as he entered the parlor. One glance at a fair, girlish face told him that he confronted the mother of Mary and Sarah.

"Oh, sir!" pleaded Mrs. Edna Deane, a widow, "in a dark moment I abandoned my dear little ones. Now, once more on my feet, my heart yearns for them."

Up and down the room raged Richard. He was like a being distracted. Had he not rescued the children from homelessness? Had he not given them love, care, devotion, when all the world had forgotten them? He would enrich the mother, he would place his charges beyond the remotest risk of any future need, only do not rob him of that which was dearer to him than life!

And softly, full-hearted Edna Deane wept, as much out of sympathy for this strange, grand man as with warm, notherly longing.

"You see, sir," she sobbed, "I could live near you. Every day, if you choose, they shall pass a part of the time at your home; but, oh! I must have my little ones. You see that, do you not?"

Richard paused directly in front of the pleading mother. A sudden, eager smile traversed his expressive face. "An idea!" he cried, as he noted the fair, earnest face, "a grand idea! Can't we—can't we own them together? I am older than you, but—"

He needed to say little more. No woman could resist the deep, tenderness that blossomed in that noble soul for the little ones, a sure passage that he would make a model husband.

Do Something Better Than the Other Fellow--- and ADVERTISE

Advertising cannot accomplish the impossible any more than barren ground can yield rich crop.

But how advertising does make things hum when the product and proposition are right, the men and methods above board, when there's an honest purpose and earnest effort from bundle boy to general manager to serve efficiency, to deal honestly, to sell good goods, to price fairly.

Oil up the machinery of your business, imbue your organization with the spirit of true service, make your business worthy of the good will, the confidence, the patronage of the people.

In this fertile field then sow the seed of advertising and it will bring forth abundant crops in increased business and augmented prestige.

Your store news in the Dispatch will be read in practically every home in Brainerd and vicinity every evening.
